

Suzi
Woodrow-Read
SENIOR ASSOCIATE

Possessing an innate ability to understand the culture of the teams and individuals she works with, Suzi draws upon 15 years of experience in the fields of communication, education and performance to promote interpersonal clarity in her audiences and facilitate change.

Suzi has experience in diverse industry sectors locally and internationally and works in both the private and public arena. She is working currently in the area of Relationship Management with project teams in infrastructure delivery, while putting emphasis on the importance of leadership in developing sustainable safety cultures in both individual teams and organisations.

EDUCATOR:

With a genuine passion for imparting skills and knowledge to those who seek it, Suzi has spent many years identifying how to communicate with a diversity of individuals from different backgrounds and with different educational needs. Her work has also seen her developing new methods of communicating and training managers and leaders in how to best utilise these different skills.

Working closely with individuals in a range of high-pressured diverse team environments, Suzi's skills enable the team to identify sustainable and inspiring visions, as well as generate and document specifically-focused and innovative goals to ensure the visions are realised and organisational change is productive and long lasting.

FACILITATOR:

Years of experience in teaching, executive training and lecturing has allowed Suzi to hone a unique facilitation style that demonstrates compassion for her clients, whilst being highly challenging and energetic. Her nurturing nature is efficient at drawing out the best in her clients in a short space of time. Suzi effectively adapts the specific creative forms of process and educational drama in her facilitation to apply knowledge, theory and experience in an innovative and original way.

CREATIVE:

Suzi works to empower individuals and ensure that their energies are focused and dynamic so that deep levels of meaning are achieved through inspiring and creative applications. Suzi's aim is to promote deeper levels of interpersonal clarity in those she works with. She quickly gains an understanding of the needs and capabilities of teams and individuals to bring out their own capacity for creativity and direct them to apply it immediately to a diversity of issues, situations and problems.
