

Taya Seidler

FACILITATOR

performancefrontiers.

Taya's diverse background in both the arts and corporate sectors informs her passion and capacity as a facilitator and designer of learning programs. She injects her work with high levels of rigour and authenticity, and is recognised for her ability to bring out the best in the people she works with. One of Taya's key tenants is that everybody's experience is relevant and everybody is a contributor. Harnessing her participants' potential and experience, Taya creates a highly stimulating shared learning environment for all.

FACILITATOR:

Taya's corporate management experience both internationally and in Australia enables her to connect with the realities of the workplace environments of her participants. She understands the nuances of corporate culture firsthand and uses language and approaches that create real-time connections for the people that she works with.

One of the younger members of the team, Taya is a model representative of our increasingly changing and dynamic workforce and is in touch with their values, desires and needs. Her ability to relate to both her own and later generations makes her an ideal choice for organisations with younger workforces. Taya's facilitation style is vibrant, intuitive and empathic. Her commitment to learning and growth is infectious and inspires the people she works with to new levels of engagement.

CREATIVE:

As a professional theatre practitioner and movement coach Taya's work developed her focus on increasing self and group awareness, exploring authenticity and unleashing creative potential. Today she builds on this focus as she moves into a broader corporate and organisational development context.

Taya draws on her creative sensibilities as a performer and designer to develop and deliver programs that apply artistic and creative forms to real-time issues, creating solutions that are innovative and relevant. Her experience as an arts educator enables her to use an integrated approach to adult learning that caters to many different learning styles.
